Changes

Who can say if I've been changed for the better?
I do believe I have been changed for the better
And because I knew you
I have been changed for good.

~ For Good

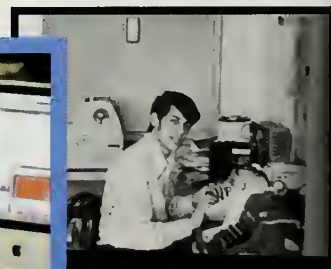

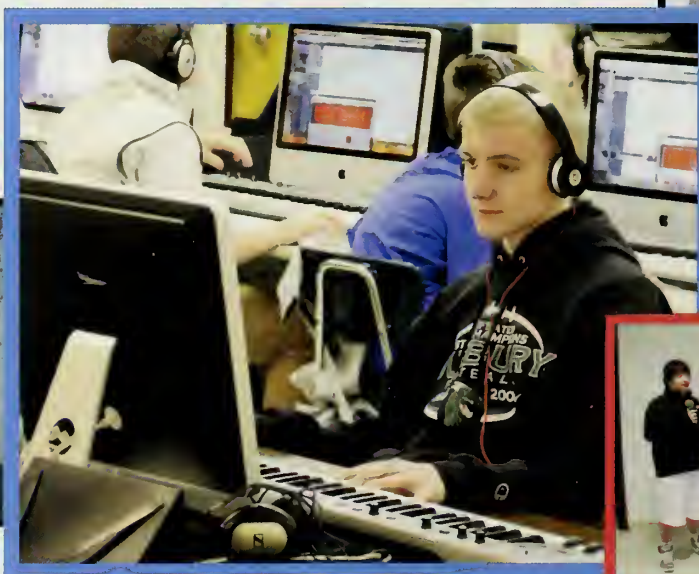

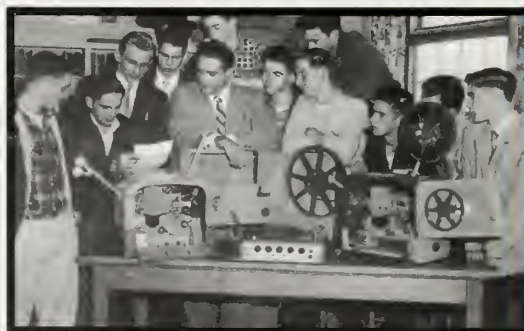

We've all changed. Not one of us is exactly the same person that walked through the front doors of Duxbury High School in August. Whether we've noticed or not, life has happened to all of us.

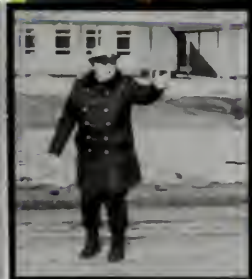

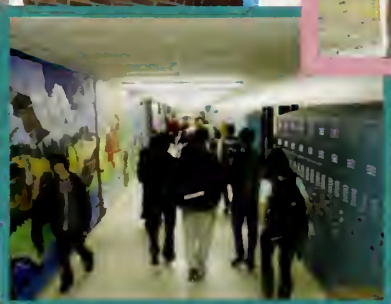

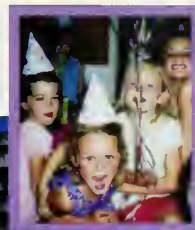

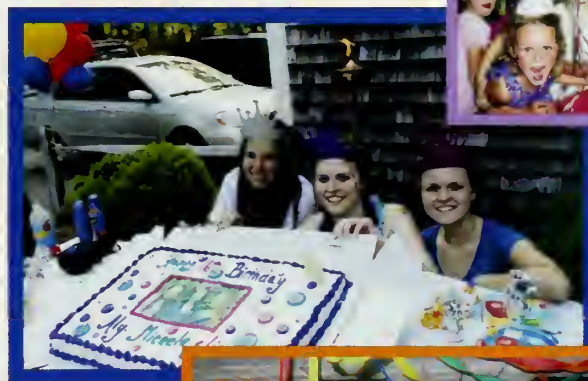

Summer faded into fall, fall froze into winter, winter thawed into spring. Throughout it all, life went on. Siblings grew up and moved out. Couples, seemingly meant to last forever, broke apart. Friends drifted away. At some point throughout this school year, the world seemed to be ending.

Yet, as the seasons changed and our constants were ever-changing, good changes were made too: We were accepted to colleges. New couples formed. Friends were made. Contrary to the Mayans' beliefs, the world kept turning.

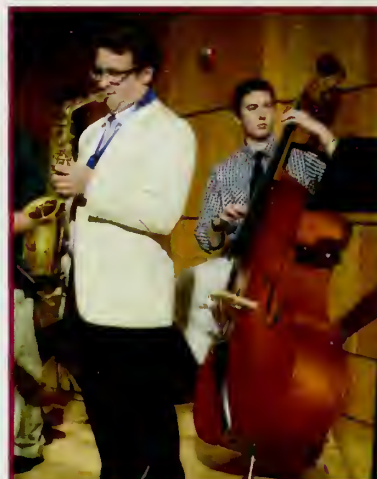

We have changed ourselves to go along with our ever-turning, ever-changing world, whether we know it or not. The differences are subtle to us, but we become aware of their presence when grandmothers squawk, "My, how you've grown!" or when neighbors babble about how they knew us when we were "only this tall". These changes are signs of our growth and maturity as people. They are a result of who we are, how we as individuals react to the life we've lived and the people we've lived it with. They contribute to both the people we are now and the people we will become. The world will never stop turning, at least not in our lifetime. Our lives will never stop changing, not for anyone. We cannot stop the changes whether we want to or not. What's coming will come - we'll just have to meet it when it does.

Best of the Bunch

The "Best of the Bunch" award ceremony was started in 2011-2012 by the English Department. This year, teachers from different departments nominated students for these good citizenship awards. Sixty students were nominated. Before the ceremony, students and their parents enjoyed a delicious breakfast served by our PTO.

Football

By Jon Hurvitz

Our team has accomplished what most people dream about - two Super Bowls, three league championships, and most important - undefeated Turkey Day... a 48-1 record since our freshman year - not too bad I'd say.

Our team has two rules - be on time and be a good guy.

Be on time means be fifteen minutes early.

Be a good guy, however, cannot be summed up in one sentence.

Being a gentleman, being polite, and being honest are given aspects of being a "good guy". But truly, it's the subtle things that count... the acts that go unnoticed by others... those are the defining qualities of a true human being... those are the subtle acts that COACH wants us to understand. Those are the acts that mean the most in life.

Cheerleading

By Emma Schroeder

This past season was somewhat of a rebuilding season. The judges created a new scoring sheet that was meant to simplify the scoring process but instead changed the value of many of the elements in our routine. Though our scores did not reflect it, I believe that we have greatly improved our level of both stunting and traveling. Although we didn't make it as far as we had hoped in competition, we still enjoyed watching and cheering for our football team.

I am confident that our team will push through the difficulties with scoring and injuries to have a great winter season.

Boys Soccer

By Drew Caliendo

This was a great year for Duxbury soccer. Coming into the season there were a lot of questions surrounding the team. We had a new coach and the team had lost many seniors. We were not expected to be very successful, but we gathered around our new coach and became somewhat of a big family. I think I speak for the whole team when I say there's no coach we would have rather played for than Coach Johnson. He really did a great job coming in and taking control of our team. We started the season off great, winning our first few games. Mid-season we hit somewhat of a bump in the road and struggled, but we continued to work hard every day in practice and at the end of the season we beat Whitman-Hanson to clinch a spot in the tournament. In the first round we played Pembroke. We had beaten them earlier in the season, but they were on a winning streak coming into the tournament. The game was amazing. We won in penalty kicks and it was a truly awesome moment. Unfortunately, in the next round, we lost to Holliston. Still, all in all, the season was a huge success.

Girls Soccer

By Laura Nee

The Duxbury Girls' Soccer team had a great season this year, ending the season with a 15-3-4 record. The soccer team had success both in the league and in the post season. Some big wins for the soccer team came against Hingham, Scituate, New Bedford, and Plymouth North. Their best game of the year was the South Sectional semi-finals against Canton, a team that had knocked them out of the playoffs in 2 of the past 3 years. The game ended in penalty kicks and brought the girls to the finals, where they eventually lost to the state champion team from Medfield. Despite this loss, the soccer team had a great run and did very well this year and they surprised many people along the way!

Girls Volleyball

Practically still in its infancy, as this is only its second year, our Duxbury High School Dragons have let the world of high school volleyball know that it has arrived. The number 6 seed Dragons (15-5) reached The Division II South Sectional semi-finals with a 3-0 win. Off court, Michela North was named to the Massachusetts Girls Volleyball Coaches Association All-State Team. Michela is also a two-time Patriot League All-Star for the Dragons Volleyball Team. Although The Dragons will lose six stellar seniors at the end of the season, hopes are high for an equally strong third season next year.

Boys Cross Country

By Liam MacDonald

In the dead of August, at nine am each day,
A group of special young men show up in disarray.
Tired, disheveled, and their hair hardly neat.
Having just rolled out of bed and looking down at their feet.
Timed miles, Marshfield loops, roller coasters and 400s galore,
So tired and sweaty, you have never seen such gore.
Well, one might think, "this is awful, how can this be?
One by one, daughter and son, wouldn't they all eventually
Just quit, try something else for a change maybe?"
Well, my friend, let me tell my story.
Running is great exercise, and can be a lot of fun,
But here is the real reason why then come.
Every day, new friends are made, we're shaped and molded.
When we are running, we hardly ever get scolded.
The friends that I have made throughout the years
Through running have made me laugh, gasp, and even shed tears.
More important, before I go,
I want to let all of you know
How special this team is to me, and how much it shows.
My coach gave me a structured house, my teammates a home.
And while the running is always there.
On a tough day, I don't even care.
Cross country and my running brothers give me something to look forward to Without them, I don't know what I would ever do.

Girls Cross Country

By Caroline Bittrich

This fall season, Girls Cross Country gained a promising group of freshman runners who showed their incredible sportsmanship and talent as the newcomers. Led by senior captain Caroline Bittrich, the girls ran in the second annual Bob McIntyre Twilight Invitational and Eastern Massachusetts Invitational Meet. In every race, each of the girls improved as they quickly adjusted to the training cross country demands from each runner. Next year's team will be led by senior Captain Jackie Hanrahan and junior Captain Emily Gaita under the management of Coach McLeod. Make sure to keep an eye out for these ladies running the roads throughout the next three years; because Duxbury Girls Cross Country team will be a force to be reckoned with!

Boys Golf

The championship tradition of the DHS Varsity Golf Team continued in 2012. The regular season was highlighted by wins over B.C. High, Hingham, and Sandwich. It was the first time in recent memory that the Dragons beat the B.C. High Eagles on their home course. Nick Drago led the team to the State Championship with a tournament low 72 in the Sectionals. In the State final, the Dragons tied for first with a 74 from Nick Drago, a 76 by James Mattes, a 79 by Jack Ball, and an 80 from Bobby O'Brien. These four captains led the team to a league championship and a great year.

Field Hockey

The 2012 field hockey season was one that no one could forget. With only nine seniors and many new faces, we formed a bond that couldn't be broken. We began our winning streak like we had done in years past, but this time with a new coach. Coach Vanderwater, with assistant Coach Connolly by her side, took the place of Pam Manley. We didn't know how far we would make it, but we took it game by game and grew with every new opportunity that came our way. We faced many injuries on the team, allowing other girls to step up and show their skill. Sam Wyatt was the first boy to ever play on Duxbury field hockey, which created a new way to play the game. We had high hopes for the tournament, although the season ended when we least expected it to. Senior Captains Kathryn Nutter, Hannah Murphy, and Emily Giumetti handed over the rings to the new captains for 2013; Ally Hammel, Zoe Griffin, Lily Smith, and Katie Smith. "You miss 100% of the shots you don't take."

Boys Basketball

By Rob Kosharek

We came off a great season last year and lost a great deal of talent to graduation, private school, and injury. We have struggled mightily this year to try to live up to the goals we set before the season started. We are a very young team and some players saw their first varsity minutes this year. Though our chemistry has been somewhat off, it does not reflect our work ethic and camaraderie as a team. I've been in the program for a long time and seen the ups and downs. I'm confident that the team will move forward next year with experience and make a run in the tournament as we always should.

Girls Basketball

By Michela North

We only lost one senior from last year and had six players returning who had had considerable minutes last year. With four players over six feet tall, we are arguably the tallest team in the state and we use our height to our advantage. So far this season, we have held teams to an average twenty-eight points per game.

Everybody on the team contributes to the wins and by working together we have been able to defeat everyone in our league. The Three seniors leading the team have added experience as well as talent to a squad that is very deep. We have proven that we are a dynamic team by becoming undefeated league champions and winning the league for the third year in a row. This team is special and has the potential to go far into the post season tournament by playing hard, smart, and together.

Even though the DHS Girls' Hockey Team lost one game early this year, they beat that same team later on in the season. They had a young team this year, but demonstrated that they were very talented. They were ranked top 3 in the state. With an exceptional goalie, as well as great forwards, they beat Hingham and Saint Mary's - both huge wins. The team hopes to clinch a 3rd state title.

Girls Swimming

By Ellie Johnson and Shelby Radar

The girls swimming and diving team had an exceptional season this year. They capped off an undefeated season by winning their 22nd consecutive Patriot League Championship title. Some highlights of the meet included Kelsey Golden and Avery Pisani going one-two in the diving portion. The girls won all three relays and co-captains Shelby Rader and Ellie Johnson triumphed in their individual events. They will enter States this year with a strong team of fourteen girls, and hope to place high and break some records. Both the coaches and captains could not be prouder of their team.

Boys Indoor Track

By Alec Stewart

The Duxbury Boys Winter Track and Field team finished up a strong 2013 season this winter. Sophomore Tate Allen, Senior Matt Abbott, and the two Senior Captains, Tommy Sarles and Alec Stewart, all scored big points in the distance events. Sophomore CJ Ruff, and Senior Pat Buell, who were both mere seconds away from a Division Meet qualification, kicked butt in the sprint events. Freshman Ryan Duffy surprised many coming in as the top high jumper on the team, earning his fair share of the point total. With strong showings from both team veterans, and new members, the team finished the regular season with a winning record of 4-3. Unfortunately, due to the extreme conditions from Winter Storm Nemo, the Patriot League Championship was canceled entirely, and the Dragons were unable to test their skills in the post-season. From the regular season alone, however, it is clear that the team would have placed well, and will continue to place well in the future. So, to all the new and returning members of the team next year just remember: run fast, turn left, and the rest will sort itself out.

Wrestling

By Jake Genereux

The Duxbury Dragons wrestling team has yet again had a tough wrestling season. Despite a 4-15 record, the dragons got the best of Mansfield, Nauset, Barnstable, and Quincy. Captain Jake Genereux has had his best season so far with a 33-1 record. Jake is currently ranked 1st in division 2 and 2nd in New England. On another note, Captain Brian Leddie has a staggering 25 wins with a tough 5 losses. Brian is currently ranked 5th in division 2 and 8th in the all-state rankings. Other wrestlers also looking to go far in the post season include senior Brendan Gillis (12-6) and junior Jim Chapuis (18-12). Girls Crew

By Georgia Butcher

Waking up at 5am is not everyone's ideal image of how their fall mornings should go. For the girls varsity rowing team though, this is what happened every day of the week, with few exceptions. Throughout the season the girls saw major improvement on their erg scores and technique in the boat under the watchful eye of their coach, Ali Dimatteo, a DHS alum. The girls team raced in Worcester, Lowell, Cape Cod, and at the Head of the Charles Regatta. The Charles was a unique experience and a first time for all of the competitors in the boat including the seniors. With most of the girls returning, they all look forward to more seasons together.

Boys Crew

The Varsity boys began this past fall season in rebuilding mode, having graduated talented oarsmen and coxswains from the previous season. They put the work in early, gathering for captain's practices long before the season kicked off in September. With an underclassmen-heavy team, the Varsity chased high fitness goals while tightening up technique on and off the water. With enough manpower for two boats, the Varsity split into two boats of eight for the season.

The team saw success throughout the season, as many oarsmen set personal and even team records, while the A boat competed in the Head of the Charles Regatta in October. As the majority of the roster will return for the next few seasons, the Varsity team has a very, very bright future. The boys want to thank Veronica McCarthy for putting up with their antics for the duration of the season, and would like to give a shout out to Duxbury alum Will Miller who competed in the 2012 London Olympics.

Boston Globe Awards

This year's competition marks the 90th anniversary for the national program and the 63d for the local contest. Locally, 7,768 students, in grades 7 through 12, submitted 13,776 images of student art.

Panels of three individuals were selected by the advisory board to judge 15 art classifications from painting to drawing.

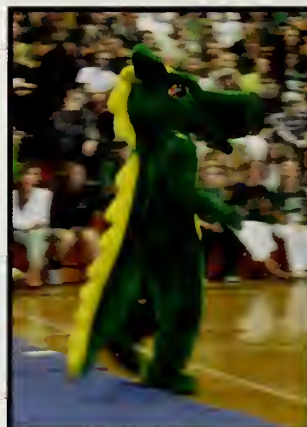

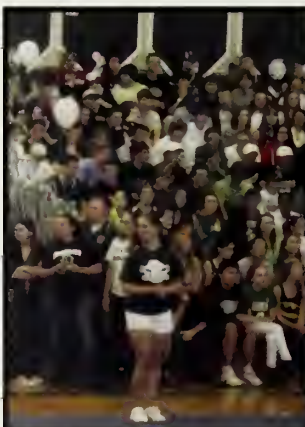

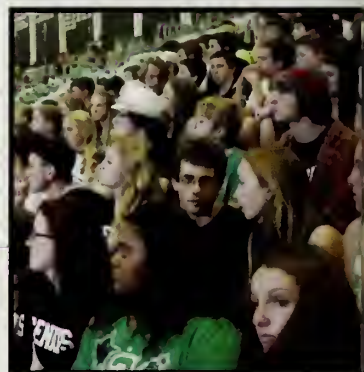

Local program director John Michael Gray said this competition has been an exciting year for the number of student entries. Each year, entries have increased up a little bit, but this year art entries have greatly increased. Student winners received Gold Keys, Silver Keys, and honorable mentions. All Gold Key works moved on to the national competition in New York City. Gray noted that Massachusetts consistently ranks in the top group of national winners.

Link Crew

The purpose of our DHS Link Crew is to motivate in-coming freshmen and students brand new to our school to excel and enjoy their time at DHS by making the transition from previous schools friendly and easy and thus helping to ensure success here.

Under the capable and creative care of Mrs. Dembowski, Mrs. Malone, and Mr. Donovan and with the enthusiastic help of officers Sam Spellman, Mary Doherty, Hannah McLaughlin, Linnea Sahlberg, and Sam Wyatt freshmen and new students begin to feel at home through activities planned at the beginning and throughout the year. Link Crew does just what its title implies; it LINKS the new and the not so new alike.

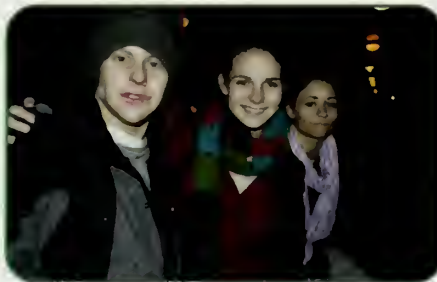

Members of Link Crew demonstrate that comraderie exists wholeheartedly at DHS.

Best Buddies

Best Buddies is a club that includes students with disabilities and builds friendships between students and buddies which last throughout their lives. Best Buddies has many activities such as bowling, outings to Edaville Railroad, Fanueil Hall, and making gingerbread houses, as well as sponsoring a talent show. Thanks to Duxbury Football, who raised money for us, we have been able to do more activities this year. A buddy was elected honorary captain of each home football game.

The best buddies have fun out and about. This year the carnival rides were a big hit. Lots of smiles! It's a great experience for students to make new friends and have fun.

Seasonal festivities include a Christmas party with ginger bread house decorating. Plus eating the left over candy :)

The presidents of Best Buddies; Maddi Macaluso, Joe Guilfoile, and Christine Griffin help plan events for the buddies.

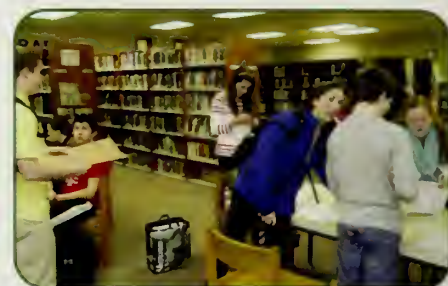

Kirsten has fun making ginger bread houses and smiles at all the festivities.

In Yearbook, we create memories that our student body will cherish. Collecting pictures, designing layouts, and giving the past year a binding are some of our many tasks. Through the many deadlines, our staff works very hard to create the final product. This year is the 88th edition of the Duxbury yearbook, and DHS with its growing staff will have many more to come with future generations.

School Memories

Dragon TV

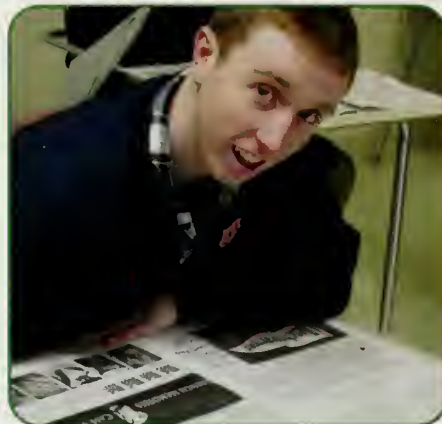

Dragon TV is so much fun! Students create interesting, informative, and creative projects that promote teamwork and school spirit.

Dragon Flyer

The DHS Journalism class is a group of motivated, hard-working students determined to bring the school hard-hitting and interesting news. Each month we publish The Dragon Flyer, the in-print culmination of that month's work. We have feature stories, opinion pieces, editorials, and news articles. On publishing day, the Flyer is distributed to English classrooms, the Library, the Cafeteria, and the Student Lounge. We take great pride in the articles we produce, and love seeing students discussing the issues in our paper.

Ink Blot

Members of Ink Blot, the DHS literary magazine, gather weekly to read, discuss, and publish student work. Together, the group creates a magazine of original poems, essays, and art work. The benefit of perusing original work is that the creative atmosphere encourages the discussion and enjoyment of literature.

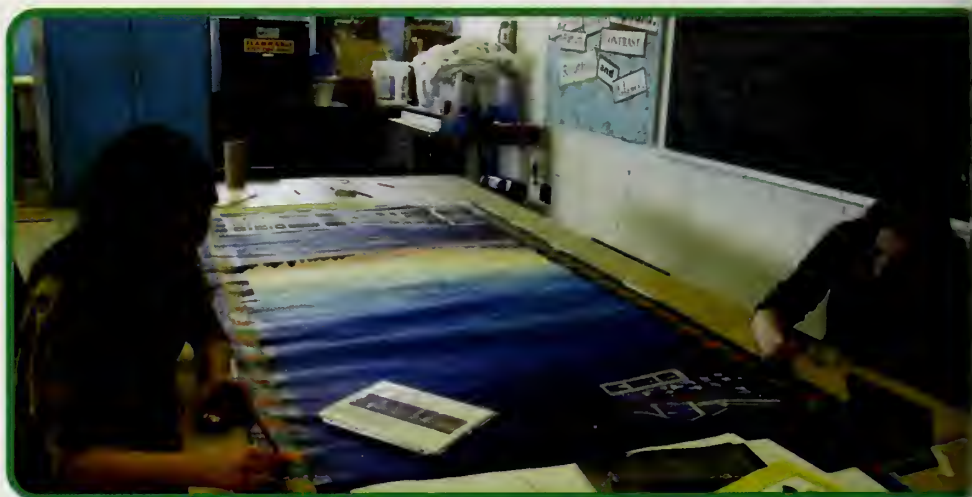

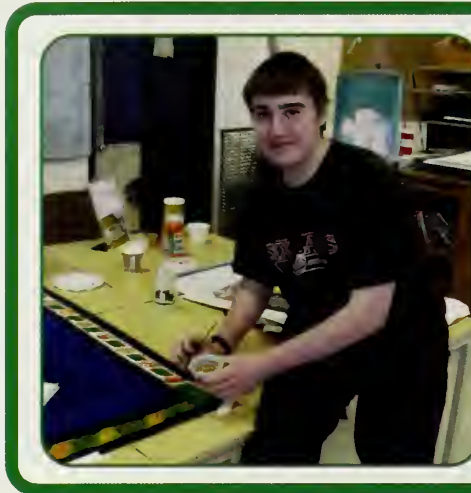

The inkblot staff reads all submissions to the literary magazine. After selecting which submissions will be published, the staff re-types and organizes the pieces for printing. Bake sales are held to raise funds so that the magazine can be printed in color.

Art Club

Art Club meets every Thursday for an hour and allows students to express their creativity through drawing and painting. Art Club members are currently working on a mural that can be moved to the new school.

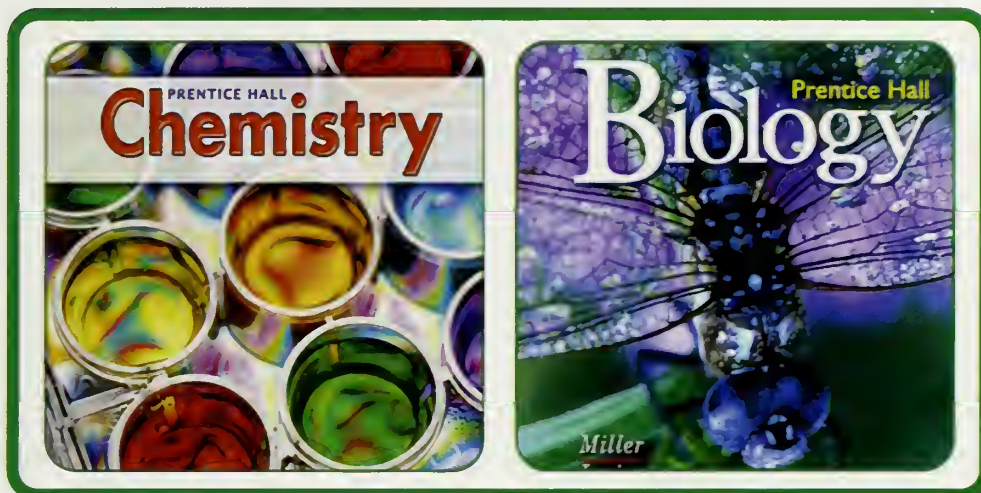

Mrs. Leydon, who teaches drawing and painting, helps fellow artists, David Button, Abigail Sveden, Sophie Rogerson, Abigail Meyer, Hannah McLaughlin, and Katie Allen.

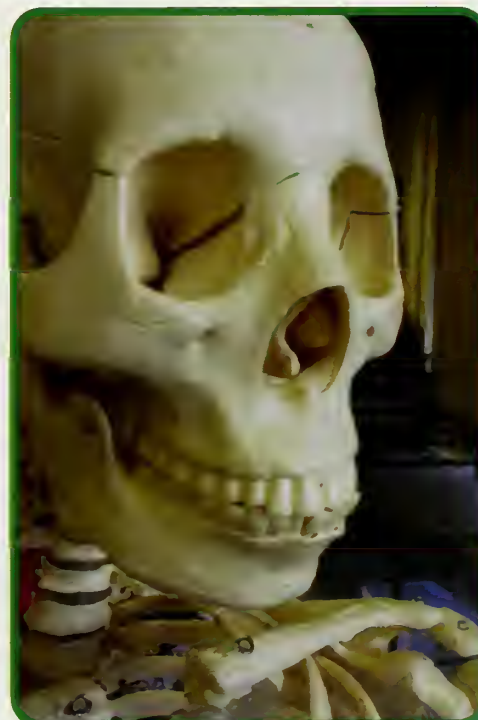

Science Bowl

The Science Bowl Team in Duxbury is an intellectual club for all high school students interested in science and mathematics. The Science Bowl Team participates in regional and national competitions and is an exciting way to meet other students with similar interests.

This year each student has a focus on a different field of science, be it physics, biology, chemistry, or forensics. When the skeleton focuses on anatomy. A broad range of knowledge is good to for the competition.

Photo Club

Photo Club is a welcoming after school activity that allows a chance for dedicated photographers to express themselves. The creative atmosphere inspires the students to develop their work in both black and white processing films and in digital work.

Gay Straight Alliance

The Gay Straight Alliance is a group that supports awareness of discrimination against those with different sexual orientations and educates the community about their differences. We believe in equality and the right of everyone to be who they want to be. You don't have to be gay or lesbian to join, just be willing to support people for who they are.

The History of a Family

By Kristina Vicario

Have you ever played the game of Life? The answer is yes. Even if you have never invested time into the extensive and well-known board game, you have played Life every day. Every school day of every year you get up, go to school and take in the experiences that are unique to each day. You talk with a friend or a bunch of friends, you laugh at the stories they tell or at the "moments" they have. You learn things you never would have otherwise from teachers you either love or hate. But there is one thing that most people overlook. Every day, you are playing the game of life with someone. Actually, you are playing this game with every single one of your graduating classmates. We all get up together. We all go to school together. We all share experiences together. We are the class the teachers talk about; the class they can't wait to get. We all believe in each other. We all started together. We will all end together. We are not the class of 2013. We are a family.

Our history began in Chandler School where we abided by the "I Care Rules." It was in this school where we were christened Duxbury Dragons for the coming years, a name by which the athletes of Duxbury would do proud with multiple championships and Super Bowls. Every Thanksgiving in the Chandler gym, we would all belt out in questionable harmony, "We are the Chandler Dragons" before our proud parents who would blind us with their flash photography.

It was also in this school where we began to learn beyond the basics of the alphabet, which we would proudly recite as if we knew everything. We would boast that we could count to 100 and then proceed to do so in a very speedy manner. In first grade we were taught to write and spell neatly between two incredibly thick lines with a dotted line dashed through the center. We started taking spelling tests, something that remained until it was outlawed in seventh grade by the teachers who had to tiresomely correct them every week. Then came the chicks that became an obvious symbol of our Chandler experience.

In second grade, renovations in Chandler were complete and we were the first class to make the big move to a new section of the building. Because we were no longer allowed to go shoe-less for fear that we might step on a leftover nail from the renovations, teachers encouraged kids to bring a set of slippers that they could leave in the classroom. This soon turned into full-fledged pajama days, which my class took advantage of at least twice a week. In second grade we also learned cursive, which was mandatory in fourth grade but which, looking back, is seemingly useless. We read to the class while being enlightened that the past tense of read is not readed.

We indulged in trading Pokémon cards and playing with Neopets at recess. Many of us made predictions of this week's episode of "Hey Arnold" and "The Rugrats". On Valentine's Day, we made containers out of shoeboxes and jumped for joy at the prospect of getting a valentine from every person in the class. The candy valentines were always in high demand. At the end of the day we would look through our boxes to find the valentine of the person whom we were especially happy to get one from. We wouldn't eat the candy attached to that one because we had to keep it forever. But then our hunger would prevail and we would settle for just keeping the valentine.

St. Patrick's Day was another day that we looked forward to, as we would come in to green and gold footprints plastered all over the room and glitter and gold coins dispersed all over the ground. For some reason, no one ever caught a leprechaun in the trap that they had spent a week working on in hopes that they would be the first class to catch one. Finally, it was time for Mrs. Zetterberg to say goodbye to us and we embarked on a journey to the other side of town where we entered the Alden School.

Here, we remained the same hyper, eager students who left Chandler, but were introduced to many new "cool" fads that became apparent at recess. Girls huddled together challenging each other to games with their Tamagotchis, while boys played very unorganized games of soccer and football. Red Rover was also another game that proved really hard on the ribs when stubborn kids refused to release their hands despite a person hurdling towards them. "The Hill," was the hangout spot for those who wanted to talk or just roll down a hill over and over for a half an hour. At the end of recess came lunch, where kids rushed to the lunch line in hopes of getting smiley fries before the kid in front of them got the last ones. If this happened, a high-stakes game of trading ensued, that sometimes resulted in the exchange of an entire sandwich for just one smiley fry.

In third grade we used Alphasmarts daily in an effort to get us to be high-class typers, which unfortunately did not pan out as planned. Hitting the A key with my pinky over and over did not consequently give me the skills they hoped I would gain. Alden was also the time of personalized desks where we would shove our supplies in and call it our own. We had cubbies for the remaining supplies that did not require an absurdly difficult combination to get in to as our lockers would in the coming years. As our backpacks got a little heavier, many opted to use rolling backpacks to support the weight of our one major zip binder in which we carried everything.

In fourth grade we all participated in the Wax Museum, holding some very uncomfortable poses for long periods of time. We were always jealous of those who had a ground pose and could sit for the entire hour.

In fifth grade many of us entered into Duxbury's prestigious music program as we received our first instruments. Our parents endured our first practice sessions and concerts of Mary Had A Little Lamb, many with plugs in their ears. Some students also participated in ballroom dancing where girls had to wear white gloves to protect them from the boys' sweaty hands. Good times.

Fifth grade was also the time of many field trips to Plymouth Plantation. Kids filed into the seats of the school busses that seemed so oversized at the time. On the way, we would hear incessant chants of 99 bottles of "soda" on the wall, and make predictions about our future in MASH to pass the time.

Fifth grade culminated in Field Day where we competed with our teachers against the other classes of our grade. Many potato sack races, relays, and hula-hoop contests later, one class stood the victor of the day.

In Middle School, we entered into what could be deemed the "Land of Unnecessary Drama." Despite the obvious presence of this, we saw our classmates change along with enjoying some of the new perks of the school. Most kids had the unfortunate experience of sporting braces and being dissuaded from chewing gum by their parents, a rule which was often broken. North Faces, Polo shirts, and Pumas also became the "necessity" for girls as guys begged for a pair of Heelys', a hot new commodity seen on TV.

With Middle School, came many other new crazes. Slushies at lunch permanently turned teeth blue and red for the rest of the day. SGI's produced angry kids that had to miss their lunch for a music lesson. Flip phones became the cool new thing until the Mint Chocolate outshined them all. Endless chain messages migrated from phone to phone because the sender would have "bad luck for ten years" if they didn't pass it along to eighteen contacts. Jared the Subway Guy became, for some reason, a topic of discussion at lunch, but I have no idea why. Changing for gym was rendered annoying because this was the first time we had to do so. It was also the first time we actually got graded on how good we were at gym, a prospect that seemed unfair to all who feared the pull-up bar and running the mile. Nintendo 64 was pushed aside as the Game Cube and Play Station emerged. iPod Nanos became a nuisance to the teachers as kids refused to put them away and instead, threaded them up the sleeve of their sweatshirt and leaned their hand on their ear. If you could pull this off, you were admired. We also took numerous Grow Quizzes and AR tests, and spent a ridiculous amount of time on Sludge.

We experienced teachers who were the subject of many discussions. Kids would listen as their friends told them about the mystery of Mr. Mack and his cat Misty. Mrs. Moore's meticulous methods for producing perfect handwriting were something experienced by the seventh grade split-team. Smart boards sparked our interest as many kids fantasized about having one in their room some day.

At our first dances, we danced to Soulja Boy and Low trying to impersonate the real dance, which didn't go well. As Stairway to Heaven came on, signifying an end to the night, boys were faced with the responsibility of asking a girl to dance. Enter drama.

Middle School also had its memorable moments. Endless trips to the Science Museum, a trip to Sturbridge, and an unforgettable slavery walk at Nature's Classroom are memories that we still carry with us as we prepare to graduate.

Finally, following eighth grade promotion, we entered the doors of a school that was much different than any other. This school was comprised of adults, people who could drive, presidents of clubs, elite athletes, and freedom. However, High School still had its quirks. Silly bandz adorned the wrists of the many girls. Gym class wristbands were sought after with an amazing amount of effort and determination by our gym class heroes.

High school also meant branching out. We were no longer able to sit with the same people every day at lunch. We met so many new people between clubs and sports teams. Facebook and Twitter enabled us to keep in contact with our teammates and friends and share pieces of our lives with them.

In High School, new things emerged every year. Snapchat became a popular way to annoy our friends. In the hallway, many of us watched as the football players made valiant efforts, some diving across three kids at a time, to get their enemy out in Assassin. Freshmen year, the girls JV soccer team would serenade the rest of the bus with Justin Bieber's One Time. This year, Seniors participated in the Senior Class Plays or went to support their friends, watching them make fun of Harry Potter and Twilight, relationships, and college interviews, all of which were prevalent themes in our high school years.

This class has gone through so much together. We have experienced three memorable presidential elections. We have seen our Boston teams win in all four sports at least once. We saw the end of the Curse of the Bambino. We saw the Patriots' massive fingerprints soil the pristine shine of the Lombardi trophy three times. We saw the Bruins skate to a victory over the Vancouver Canucks. We saw the Big Three guide the Celtics to a Championship in '08. We saw the music program go to All-State, Carnegie, D.C. and Disney. We saw the Drama program perform in four great musicals and go to States. We saw our athletes win Super Bowls and State Championships. We reveled in undefeated seasons. We have been together for twelve years of our lives, from 2001 to 2013. We have experienced life together while supporting each other on the way. We are not the class of 2013. We are a family.

~ THANK YOU TO ALL OUR SUPPORTERS ~

Creating a yearbook is a challenging task. It is also always a challenge to find the means to publish the book in order to share the precious memories of the year with our fellow students. In addition to book sales, we must rely upon advertisements to enable us to meet the publisher's cost of producing our book. These difficult economic times have made this an especially challenging time to fund our book. With the help of both parents and businesses, we have once again met this significant challenge, enabling us to bring the result of our hard work to life. The Yearbook Staff wishes to thank all of our supporters, without whose help we could not have met our goal. Please be sure to patronize our advertisers.

Congratulations

CHRISTINA BALZOTTI

We have had the pleasure of watching you grow into such an amazing, talented, beautiful and bright young woman.

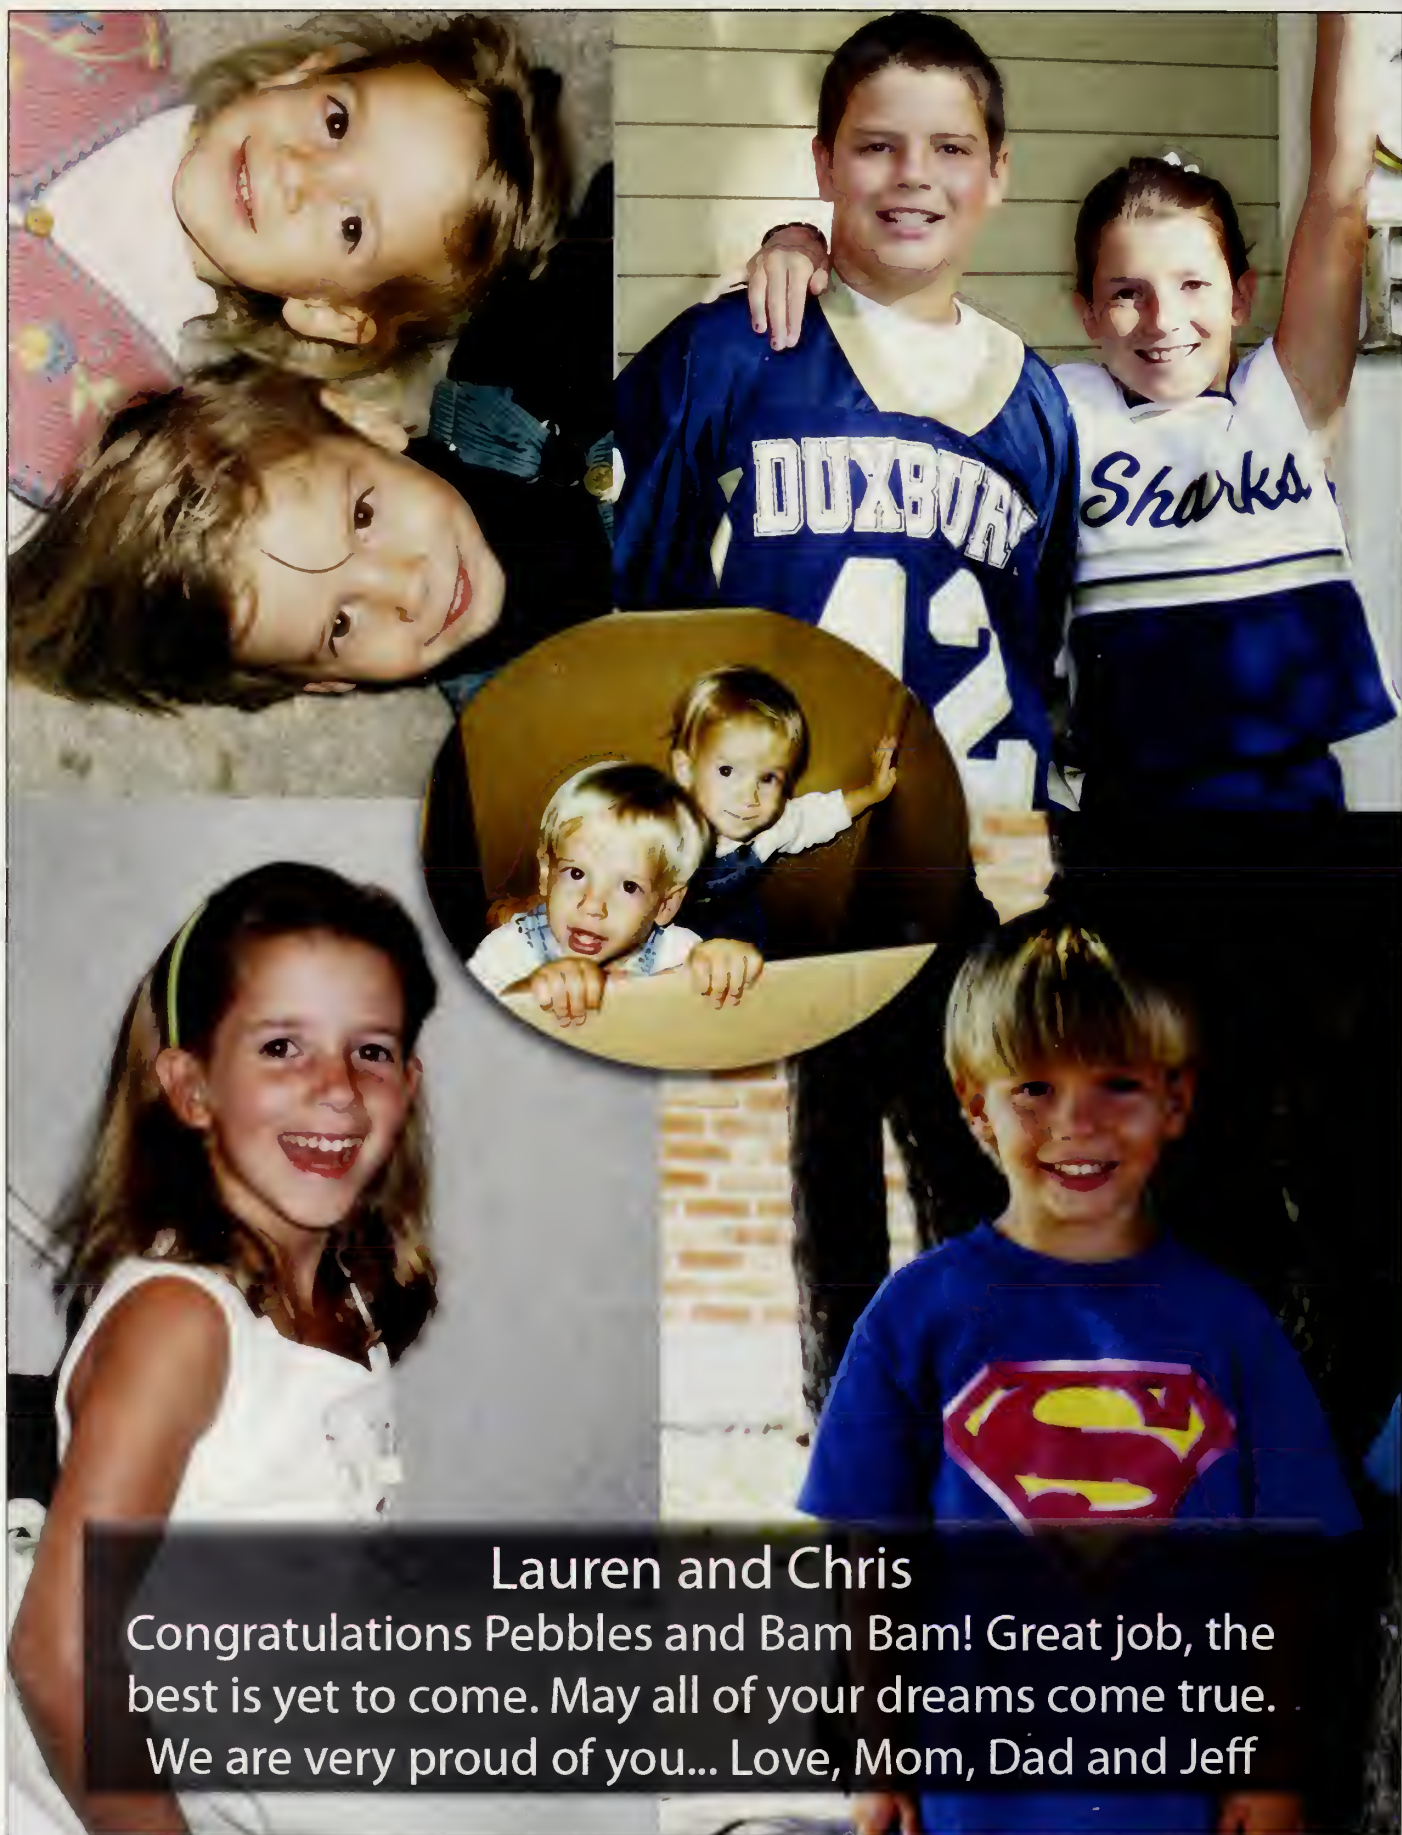

You have brought us from
Flying kites to riding bikes,
Jumping on the balance beam, to dancing on stage,
Skating across the ice, to dribbling the soccer ball,
Collecting sea glass to skimboarding,
Playing catcher, to playing point guard,
Skiing to snowboarding,
Water skiing to wakeboarding,
Then lacrosse sticks to hockey pads.

It has been one exciting year after the next with you always wanting to try something new. Along the way we have made so many beautiful memories, not to mention missing gloves, balls, shoes, etc. being left behind by you having too much fun to notice them missing. You are the perfect example of how life should be lived in taking every opportunity and rising to the challenge. You are a determined and dedicated person who never gives up and we are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments in life. There is no doubt that your future will be filled with success because you deserve it. We love you very much and hope that you have as much happiness as you have given us in being such a wonderful daughter and sister.

Love,
Mom, Dad, DJ & Joey

Congratulations Pebbles and Bam Bam! Great job, the best is yet to come. May all of your dreams come true.
We are very proud of you... Love, Mom, Dad and Jeff

Sean,

You are an amazing young man. Words cannot express how very proud we are of all that you have accomplished. How time flies. From the very beginning you have been our spark plug. Over the years you have brought so much joy and laughter into our family. Your zest for life is contagious. You are confident, compassionate, and have a wonderful sense of humor, not to mention a vivid imagination! Thanks for being a great son and a wonderful brother. Now you are ready to embark on a new adventure and take whatever comes your way. As you continue your journey in life remember that there are no limits to what you can achieve. Always hold your head high and follow your dreams. You have so much to give.

We love you.

You always had a twinkle in your eye.
 So when I sent you off to preschool,
 I let out a sigh!
 Independent and eager to help,
 You left an impression on everyone, especially the dog
 who often let out a yelp!
 You grew up and left those devilish days behind,
 Always thinking of using your mind.
 Hard working and wanting to do well,
 Dad and I just had to tell...
 We are so proud of all of your accomplishments,
 and think you're swell!
 Love you, and know that you will succeed in whatever your do!

Our Dearest Robbie —

We can't imagine our lives had we not been graced with your presence - you've given us worlds of happiness, indelible memories, and lots of laughs over the last eighteen years - and with great pride and a tear in our eye we send you off to a brilliant future. Please know that we are here for you, just like we have always been, whenever you need us.

Remember the Irish proverb: "We can only hold our children's hands for a short time, in hopes we hold their hearts forever."

Love, Mom, Dad, Katie, Ruby, and Smokey

May You Have:

Enough happiness to keep you sweet
 Enough trials to keep you strong Enough sorrow to keep you human Enough failure to keep you humble
 Enough success to keep you eager
 Enough friends to give you comfort
 Enough wealth to meet your needs
 Enough enthusiasm to look forward
 Enough faith to banish depression
 Enough determination to make each day better than yesterday.

Analee,

It's been a blast growing up with you. You are an awesome human being. As you go forth to create your world, we wanted one last chance to give you some sage advice (well, advice anyway).

- Avoid self-limiting beliefs and small-minded people.
- You do not always need to be on top but avoid the bottom.
- It's okay to change your mind during a discussion if someone reveals "information you did not have".
- Remember you can always come home.

Love you to pieces. Pumpkin -

"Young, carefree, innocent
You sing, laugh, and dance
Taking in all God's glory
At every single chance.
Keep that little child inside!
Hold her close to your heart,
For a moment each day
It's OK to get silly
To laugh and dance.
Take in all God's glory
At every single chance."

country mourns

© ADREES LATIF/REUTERS /LANDOV

Sadness blanketed the nation on December 14 as the tragic events at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Conn., were made known. At a memorial service held to honor the 26 victims and support the families and community, President Obama spoke, "As a community, you've inspired us, Newtown. In the face of indescribable violence, in the face of unconscionable evil, you've looked out for each other, and you've cared for one another, and you've loved one another. This is how Newtown will be remembered."

queen's jubilee

The 86-year-old Queen of England celebrated 60 years as reigning monarch during a 4-day Diamond Jubilee. The festivities drew a crowd of more than 1 million people. Other celebratory events happened throughout the year including national and overseas visits and several garden parties.

health care for all

The Affordable Care Act was deemed constitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court's 5-4 vote. The government plans to move forward with reforms that are intended to provide health care coverage for all people.

eurozone debt crisis

Several countries within the European Union continued to undergo economic difficulties. In September, the European Central Bank lowered interest rates and agreed to offer accessible loans to encourage money flow across European banks.

The tomato has 35,000 genes – 25% more genes than a human.

© Comstock/Thinkstock

Scientists determined the entire genome sequence of the tomato, which revealed additional information about the fruit's genetic structure. Researchers can learn how the species adapted over time and how to produce more tasty and nutritious varieties.

spray-on power

© MICHAEL MAGNANT /Landov

A team of mechanical engineers published research on their latest invention: spray-on, rechargeable batteries. They broke down the battery components and transformed them into liquid – a discovery that may eventually lead to spray-on batteries for tiles, glass, steel and cars.

nowhere to go but up

STEPHEN MORRIS /Landov

Sky Green Farms developed the first vertical, commercial-scale vegetable farm in Singapore. Vertical farms are pyramid-like structures made of metal with many levels containing trays of vegetables. The vertical farms are perfect for areas such as Singapore, where real estate is limited and typical farming practices take up too much space.

solar-powered plane

© EPA /Landov

At 43.5 mph, Solar Impulse made its historic solar-powered intercontinental flight between Switzerland and Morocco, with a stop in Spain. The plane's 12,000 solar cells across its wingspan captured the sun's energy to run its motors and recharge the battery. The mission demonstrated the potential for pollution-free air travel.

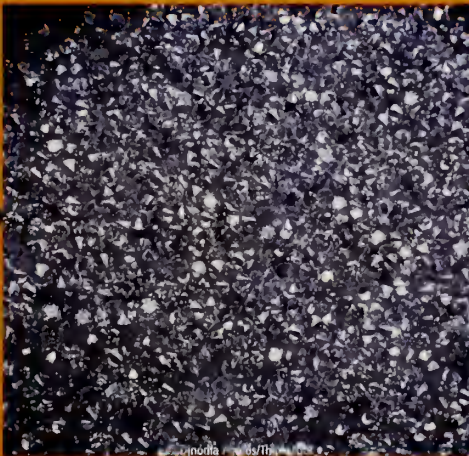

coral finding in tropical reefs

© Dr. Bert W. Hoeksema / Naturalis

A new coral species was discovered in the western part of the Coral Triangle. The coral lives on cave ceilings and is unique because it lacks the bacteria that other coral need to survive. It can tolerate low light levels in deep waters and has small polyp sizes, which cause it to grow slowly.

diamond detergent

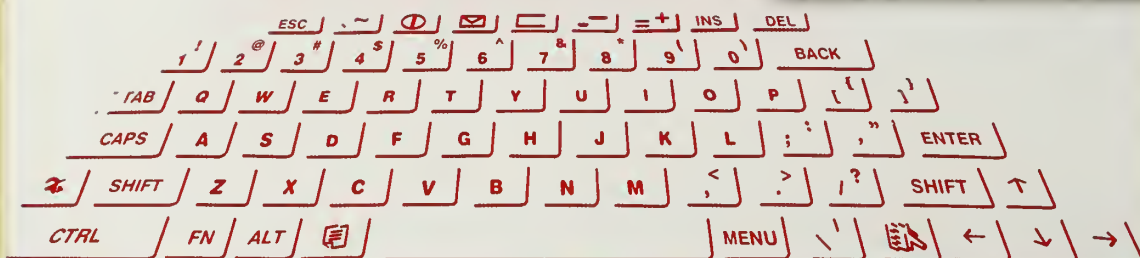

© iStockphoto /Landov

A U.K. team of researchers discovered that very small pieces of carbon called nanodiamonds can help detergents more effectively clean clothing with cold water. These findings were part of the "Cold Water Cleaning Initiative" that aimed to find energy savings by replacing hot water with cold for household chores.

virtual keyboard

Brookstone stores offered a virtual keyboard (manufactured by CTX Virtual Technologies) to consumers. It is the smallest and most affordable ($99 each) virtual keyboard of its kind. The keyboard image is projected via laser from a small key chain. Optical sensors track the user's finger movements and Bluetooth technology connects it back to the wireless device.

robot plays rock, paper, scissors

© TORU HANAU/Reuters /Londov

Physicists at the University of Tokyo created a robot that can play rock, paper, scissors and win 100% of the time against humans. The robot was programmed with a high-speed camera that senses human wrist motion in 1 millisecond and determines which move the player will choose before the motion is even made. Someday, similar technology might be used in assembly line work and even in hospitals.

the egg & i

A new egg-shaped car called "Eggasus" joined the eco-friendly vehicle market. The 3-wheel car gives off zero emissions and is ideal for compact, urban spaces. "Eggasus" costs $5,000 and fits one person inside. It can reach 25 mph and travel a distance of about 50 miles.

digital pills

© Proteus Digital Health

The first digital pill was approved by the FDA. The digital chip, the size of a grain of sand, is implanted in a pill that is taken at the same time as the patient's medication. The chip sends an electric signal to a patch worn on the person's skin which sends the information to medical professionals for monitoring.

built for speed

© Luc Fusaro

French engineer Luc Fusaro developed customized shoes to enhance athletic performance. First, a digital model is made of the athlete's foot. Then, using special powder with a 3-D printing technique, the shoes are built for a perfect fit. The shoes can improve speed performance up to 3.5%.

engineered copter

Students at the University of Maryland Clark School of Engineering set a new (unofficial) record for flight time in the Gamara II, a helicopter powered by foot pedals and a hand crank. The machine weighed nearly 75 lbs. and stayed in the air for about 65 seconds at 9 ft. off the ground.

presto pie

A1 Concepts, a Netherlands-based company, plans to bring its pizza vending machine technology called "Let's Pizza" to the U.S. The machine takes 2.5 minutes to make the pizza and another minute to bake it. The 11-inch pizza sells for $5.95.

smart gloves

A team of university students from the Ukraine won the coveted Software Design category in Microsoft's 2012 Imagine Cup. The group created Enable Talk gloves that sense movement and translate it to audible speech. The inventors' goal was to help users more easily communicate with people who don't know sign language.

Google glass

Google Glass was named one of TIME magazine's "Best Inventions of the Year." The glasses look ordinary, but when wearers look up and to the right they'll notice the difference. The glasses have a built-in computer that allows users to access Google tools; it also contains an earpiece and speaker. Google plans to release the glasses in 2014 for $1,500 each.

ebooks surpass hardcover

American book publishers announced that for the first time they sold more ebooks than hardcover books, mostly due to the increasing number of e-readers. However, paperback books generated more revenue.

extreme crash sensor

MOTO

SNOW

The ICEdot Crash Sensor was introduced to the market specifically for people who participate in high-risk sports. A GPS sensor is attached to the athlete's helmet. If it detects a high-impact fall, a 30-second countdown begins. The person must stop the countdown, or Bluetooth technology sends a message with GPS coordinates to the user's emergency contacts.

ravens fly to victory

The Baltimore Ravens and San Francisco 49ers faced off in Super Bowl XLVII, which was held in New Orleans. The Ravens took a 22 point lead when the stadium's power went out for nearly half an hour. Once the power returned, the 49ers tried to close the gap in a second-half surge but the Ravens held on for a 34-31 victory. The Ravens quarterback, Joe Flacco, earned the MVP award.

derby dazzler

I'll Have Another ran for the roses and won the Kentucky Derby by beating out Bodemeister in the final stretch. Only a few weeks later, I'll Have Another won again at the Preakness, and was on the path for the first Triple Crown title in 34 years. However, shortly following the Preakness, the champion developed tendonitis and was withdrawn from the Belmont Stakes.
